TWO OUTBREAKS FROM THE FA YUEN PRISON.

CANTON TO WUCHOW—Every Monday, Wednesday and Friday, at 8 A.M.
WUCHOW TO CANTON—Every Monday, Wednesday and Friday, at 8.30 A.M.
The exact times of departure can always be ascertained at the Office of the Company— Two outbreaks are reported from the Fa-Yuen prison, which, according to the statement before as seems to be either in or near Canton. The first has in it an element of the humourous, the second is tragic. In the first case the prisoners were undergoing light sentences and were in the industrial prison. The men who escaped had carefully arranged their plans. They managed to remove the fetters from their legs, and whilst doing so covered their limbs with old rags. When everything was ready, on the twenty-ninth of the last Chinese month, they made a sudden break for liberty, choosing the hour when all the keepers and others were at their evening meal. The prisoners entered a room where the men were getting their rice and auddenly overpowered them all. They first bound them hand and foot and then took some ritles and beat the warders with the butt ends till they were a mass of bruises. The imprisoned guards were then carried out into the latrine, and covered with old straw which had been souked with kerosine, and they-were threatened that if they made any noise the straw would be set on fire. This threat looked too serious to be disregarded. The miscreants then ransacked the building, and carried off all the revolvers and rifles they could find. They also stole clothes and other things, and finally disappeared with two hundred dollars. The second outbreak occurred on the following night. It would appear from the report that the escape of those who were undergoing lighter sentences omboldened the others, who were undergoing longer and heavier punishment. At any rate on the evening of the thirtieth they also rose, and freed their legs from the irons. For some time friends had been allowed to visit relatives and these people had managed to bring arms into the prison to the prisoners. When the rising took place, the guards and keepers were overpowered and fied. Hence there was no barrier between the prison cell and the street. Everything was in confusion. Chuk, the commander of the guards, gave warning of what had occurred, and the city gatue were closed. He was shot dead for his interference. The city official was also wounded badly and line since expired, Also, according to the report, several others were hadly wounded and their lives are in

When the officials assembled later there will a stormy time. It is said that they vituperited each other, as the Chinese when angry are wont to do. The district magistrate has written out a full account of the misadventure, and forwarded it to the officials in Uniton but he expects that he himself will be punished for what has Business Notices.

Dear Sirs,—I have for yours been a sufferer from chronic bronchitis. Three years ago I wrote for a bottle of Angier's Emulsion, and found so much benefit from taking it that I have since never been without it. Its curative effects are remarkable, and I consider it invaluable in bronchitis. - My little grand-daughter has also been greatly benefited by its use. She is troubled with a persistent cough, which only yields to the Emulsion. Thave recommended it to many of my friends," (Signed) (Mrs.) H. SMITH. and shall continue to do so.

STRENGTHENING.

Angier's Emulsion soothes the lungs and air passages, allays inflammation, makes the cough and breathing easier, and facilitates expectoration. At the same time it promotes appetite, helps digestion and builds up strength. No other emulsion has the same soothing, cough-allaying, lung-healing power nor the same tonic effect upon appetite and digestion. Angier's Emulsion is invaluable in lung affections, digestive disorders, nervous affections and all wasting diseases. It is the most perfect and most palatable of all emulsions. ANGIER CHEMICAL CO. RAILWAYS IN PERSIA.

The influential group of Russian financlera and public mon who are promoting an international company for the construction of a railway from the Caucasus. to Baluchistan, traversing Persi, propose, says the St. Peterburg correspondent of The Times, to obtain the necessary capital in Russia, Britain, Franco and other countries. German co-operation may be invited and it is hoped that the Persians will actively participate. The preliminary negotiations which are now proceeding between St. Petersburg, London, and Paris provide for the creation of a societe d' ctudes which will apply for a concession from the Persian Government and propare for the formation of an international company. The promoters are entished that due examination of the commercial, political and geographical factors must, ipso facto, devide in favour of this, the shortest cut to India. By the proposed route the journey from London to Bombay may cally be accomplished within the week. The new milway, starting from Baku, will skirt the Caspian Sea to the Persian frontier, whence it will proceed via Resht, Teheran, and Kirman to the borders of Baluchistan and Nushki. The sections within Russian and British territory will be under the exclusive control of the respective countries. The Persian trunk line will be built and controlled by the international company. The whole length of the Persian trunk line will be 1,100 miles, and it will cost fifteen millions sterling. The distance from London to Bombay; via Alexandrovo, Rustoff and Baku, will be 5,700 miles, the whole journey taking not more than seven days and costing 20 per cent. less than the journey via Brindisi, which requires twelve and a half days. The Baghdad route, via the Persian Gull and Karachi, would require a little under twelve days Commercially, the scheme would therefore be advantageous as a means of rapid transit from London to Bombay and for the development of the

The Norve Vremya points out that the idea dates back to the eighties, before the Baghdad line had even been projected. The relations between Great Britain and Russia were then unfavourable. sees no cause for serious objection-now that the Auglo-Russian Agreement has become a fundamental principle of international p licy. It continues :- No doub the mere prospect of the realisation of the scheme will call forth the bitterest opposition on many sides. Old scores, unextinct projudices, and political resentments will rise to the surface to impede this great work of peace simply because it has been initiated in Russia. But reason will, we hope, finally overcome all obstacles. While the initiative came from private quarters, the promoters duly sounded responsible Ministers and officials both here and in Loudon. The Times correspondent at St. Petersburg understands that Mr Stolypin, M. Sazonoff, and M. Kokovtseff on the one side, and Sir Edward Grey, Lord Hardinge, and Sir Arthur Nicolain on the other, have expressed their approval. To prevent any misconception it is necessary to state that the proposed railway has nothing whatever to do with Afghanistan. According to the Russive Slore the attitude if the railway is built. In a letter to The Times Colonel A. C. Yate says :- It is noteworthy that the Russian proposal for the construction of a railway across Persia to Baluchistan comes increase of traffic on the Nushki Seistan route. I have for some yours thought that both for commercial and strategical reasons, the Railway which now ends at Nushki ought to be continued to the Persian frontier. The caravan road from-Bandar Abbas to So:stan is at times a difficult one, and when anarchy allies itself with nature to block trade route the best plan is to develope an alternative one. Sir Thomas Holdich in 'The Gates of India! warns the Indian Government that the ancient route from Sciatan along the valley of the Helmand to Kala-Bist, south of Girishk, might be reopened by an invader and upset Indian schemes of defence. I think Nuchki-Solstan railway would obviate that Of course, the section of the proposed the British public.

railway which traverses the British sphere in Persia would be made under British arrangements and join the Itidian system at the Seistan-Baluchistan border. Whan'we look back on the coveral projects for direct railway communication between Europe and India during GRAND VARIETY ENTERTAINMENT the last 60 years-projects which have thrown imaginary railways across overy possible line of country from the Surz Canal and Persian Gulf on the south to the Caspian and Hindu Rush on the north-we cannot but watch with keen interest the development of this the last-born bantling, It promises to be a serious rival to the German line from Scutari to Bazhend. The Times says: There are lew regions in Persia where railway construction could condition of the country as a mere local enterprise; for though in some districts, where there is adequate irrigation, the soil is as fruitful as anywhere clse in the world, the greater part of Persis, owing partly to natural disabilities and partly to long neglect, is practically a desert and the population is proportionately sparse. Between Kerman and the Indian frontier the country is singularly inhospitable, though the fertility of Scistan itself, which was at one time one of the grannries of Asia, might be easily restored by irrigation works on the Helmand, which would doubtless soon follow the construction of the railway. The success of the whole scheme from the financial point of view would depend very largely upon the amount o through traffic, both for passengers and for freight between India and Europe. The of the Moscow merchants is undecided, gain of time between India and England Some apprehend that cheap German goods would be very considerable. The total diswillfind an entrance into the Persian market tauce between Bombay and London by this new route is computed at 5,700 miles; and the whole journey, it is estimated, estimate seems certainly reasonable as, if we allow for the greater speed on the concurrently with the block of the southern European section of the line, it would trade routes of Persia and the consequent appear to be bused on the very moderate would take less than seven days. Such an calculation of 20 miles an hour across Persia. In this respect a trans-Persian railway would compare very favourably with the Baghdad line, which, according to its warmest advocates, would hardly reduce the journey from London to Bombay to much less than ton days, as against cleven and a half days by the present sen route via Brindisi. Whother any land route could over compete favourably with transportation by sea. for any other than rabuable freights small bulk is another question. At any rate, every consideration that commended the Baghdad Railway scheme to the British Government when it was first mooted some years ago would seem to be present in a fur higher degree in the scheme which our Russian friends propose to bring before

WUCHOW NOTES.

(From Our Own Correspo dent.) :-

The West River is unusually low just-now, said to be the lowest it has been for years. It is a common thing for the launches and small steamers running between here and Taxi Wong Kong to be grounded. The Wo Shang of this run has just returned from Canton where she has

The Wo Fat running between this place

It is said that the scheme for the building of a milroad between Fung Tauen on the West River, fifteen miles east of Wuchow, and Sai Waan, in the Hoh U n district, is said to have some very rich coal mines.

The read is to be built by the coal company operating the mines. Proclamations have already been issued by the officials commanding the people to give the right of way to the said road and the route has been surveyed. This road will be of great commercial value to the province as Holi Uen is one of the most productive farming sections of Kwong Sai. At present the only means of transportation is the Hoh Uen namerous rapids which makes it impos sible to run fnunches. We hear of complaints from the people of this section that the officials have closed the river to rice boats and thus forbidden the shipping of rice to Kwangtung. As soon as the river was closed to the rice trade the price immediately went down by almost a third, thus the people were forced to sell at a low price and lose the benefits that would have come to them from the unusual market prices. It is hinted that the officials themselves are buying up the rice through agents and when the rice crep is all in and sold then the river will be opened again; so they will be the ones to

It is reported that in one of the Hok Tongs of the city there has been an up rising among the students on account of the food, the complaint being made that the food was not sanitary. They have evidently been having some lessons in hygiene.

Complaints having been made to head quarters and on no attention being paid to thom the angry students vented their wrath by smeshing the dishes and scatter-larger ones in the various Uen cities. A short time ago Ping Lok gave a field day exercise which was participated in by the various schools of the surrounding neighbourhood. The first honours of the day were carried off by the boys of the Foo Chuen official school. In honour of the victors the Ping Lok officials sent an esc rt of so di rs to accompany them some distance on their way home. They were met on their way by a similar escort from the Foo Chuen occasion a number of new members were admitted. Already our city affords world missions of our city. The union meetings at the Baptist Church were largely attended yesterday. The meetings are to be held the first two days at the Baptist Church, the next two days at the Alliance, and the last two days at the Wesleyan Mission.

All the services are to be conducted in Chinese and the leaders alternate with a Chinaman one day and a foreigner the next. It is hoped that much good will result from these meetings both in uniting the sympathies of the different denominations and in despening the spiritual power of the churches. The meses e yesterday

NEW CHINESE MINISTER. Chinese Minister to the Court of St. James, arrived in London on Sunday evening from is expected that the new Minister will have an nudience of the King this week when he will present his credontials and an autograph letter from the Emperor of China. His Excellency accompanied by his two daughters, from Dover in a special saloon attached to the boat-train express to Charing Cross. He was met on arrival by Lord Li Chingfong, the retiring Chinese Minister, Sir John McLeavy Brown, Mr Ivan Chen, the staff of the Legation, Mr Forster, the Chinese Consul General, and several Chinese students. H.E. Lin-yuk-lin will take up his residence at the Chinese Embassy in Portland Place. He succeeds a deserved. ly popular Minister, Li Ching-fong, who is leaving London shortly for China. THE ELECTIONS.

The General Election is going much as was anticipated, and there is no doubt that the Government will return to office with a majority of from 110 to 130. The Conservative journals call it a wasted election and describe the lituation as a case of "as you were." Mr Balfour has demanded another election and his party say the time opportune for a further Conference. On the other hand the Liberals refuse longer to play at the game of "double or quits." The cold hard fact is that the country has decided in their favour, and judging from the more recent speeches of Cabinet Ministers the election has gone sufficiently well for Mr. Asquith to press forward his Parliament Bill which takes away the veto of the Lords, and in the case of its being flung out by the Upper House then the power of creating Peers will be obtained from the King. By the Parliament Bi any measure rejected three times by the House of Lords within two years can be taken straight to the Crown, and the duration of Parliament is limited to five years instead of seven as at present. The fact of the matter is that Tariff Reform combined with House of Lords reform was too much for the Conservatives, and although Mr ing the food over the floor. Miss Loio Fuller, the well known dancer, is responsible for the visit and she tells a quaint story about and Mr Chang, private secretary, travelled one of the tragedians of the party. Wang Chu was alighting from a bus in the rtrand when his hard European hat blew off. His pigtail, which, had been lying concealed under the hat, tumbled down, and Wang Chu had an exceedingly unpleasant time on account of the crowd which followed him up the Strand. The story goes that driven to desperation the tragedian dashed into a hair dresser's shop, and had the pig tail cut off. When asked about the occurrence Wang Chu replied that on no account would he run the risk of being insulted by WIRELESS INSTALATION. The installation of wireless telegraphy on board passenger vessels will without doubt soon be general. Austria has taken the plunge and made it compulsory, but the attitude of our own Board of Trade appears to be that wireless telegraphy is extending so rapidly that there is no need for compulsion. It is announced that all Austrian passenger ships, whose services carry them beyond Gibraltar, on the one hand, and beyond Aden, on the other, must in future possess means of wireless communication. Possibly it is a consideration of the cir cumstances attending the breakdown of the Austrian-Lloyd liner Trieste in the Indian Occan which has led to this decision.

ing the last month of the year the us Gazetle ahanged its printare, and casion was seized by the Press for iblication of many stories, concerning n's official newspaper. Unfortunately ew of the paragraphs borg evidence ginal research and were content to t the statement, without qualification, the Gazalle was the first English news-If this assumption is correct, or es the approval of authorit'es upon ubject, then Oxford, "the home of causes," has another case again critics, for the Gardie was first lished in Oxford on Tuesday, November 14, 1665—almost—exactly 143 yea 8. Charles II. and his Court had to Oxford, owing to the Great gue, and, fearing infection through the London news-sheets. The Intelligence The News, authorised the publication local newspaper, Leonard Litchfield, University printer, was entrusted with printing, whilst one Henry Muddiman had had previous journalistic experience, was appointed editor. The Oxford cette was published on Thursdays and indays and ran for cleven weeks. No. the London Gazette, was published in trusty, 1666. n what grounds can the Gazette claim the first English newspaper? It is true in point of size and the official nature is contents the Oxford Gazette showed rked advance upon its prodecessors, many nows-shouts had existed prior 665. A severe censorahip upon jourstic effort in any form had been main-ed by the Star Chamber, but with the throw of that remarkable institution 641 the consorship was relixed and a-sheets aprang up like mushrooms. se were more fortunate than the newsers of earlier days, inasmuch as they a home event of real importance to nicle-the ivil War. Amongst these the Mercurius Aulieus, which was ed from Oxford after the battle-of gehill and championed the Royalist se. Birkenhead, the editor, was once plary to Archbishop Laud.

ut the Mercurius Aulieus was only one nany. In London there were several s-sheets. One of the earliest was the kly Account, first published in 1 40. this the British Aluseum prasience cal issues, and we have licen fertunate btain the loan of one of the issues not he possession of the British Museum, of "the seventeenth week"-from educadny, the 23rd, to Tuesday, the of April, 1645." This is of great rest, inasmuch, as it includes in its t pag san abstract of Oliver Cromwell's ort to Parliament of his fight near entley, the defeat of the Royalist ilry then opposed to him, and the ture of the Queen's colours, "richly proidered with the Crown in the midst 18 flower deluces wrought about all in with a golden crosse on the top." he Weekly decount was possibly con ied as the Perfect Weekly Account, of ich the British Museum has copies as as 1650. There were any number of erfect" papers from 1644 onwards. onget them Perfect Passages of each ice Intelligence from the Parliament, my 1650-52; Perfect Passages of each Jes Proceedings in Parliament, 1644-46 fect Occurrences of every Daie, 1847-49. fortunately, the contents generally belied title. Considerations of space forbid a niled story of the abuse of privilege that dually arose, and the restrictions that re again unforced upon the Press by the ng Parliament Ordinances. These wire iciently severe to account in some way the meagre news contained in many ones. One famous "journalist" of the riod, Marchmont Nedham, who had a mperament aking to the Vicur of Bray, arted a Parliamentary news-sheet, and en changed its policy to that of Royalist. his necessitated his disappearance from onden, and he is reported by Antony ood to have hidden for a time at Minster.

ovel, near "Binford," in Oxfordshire, in house of Dr. Peter Haylin. He was ptured and imprisoned in Newgate, but Louthall, who knew his relations well, not ally got him a pardon, but with promise of ward and places persuaded him to charge is etyla once more. Nedham was more rtunate than one Twyn, who for a journal-tic offence was partially hanged, disem-owelled whilst still conscious, and afterrards quartered. His mutilated remains vero exhibited in prominent parts of the lity. It will be seen, therefore, that even rom the evidence here given it seems ardly safe to describe the Gazette as the he first English newspaper. It may have been he first English paper bearing official anction, but that is a different matter.—

in the educational world through the working of the proposed. University. First of all, speaking of the educationpolicies of Great Britain and her in twelve days. great rival, Germany, he remarked: "It is difficult to say which is has kindly consente to distributed the superior out of the educational systems of Great Britain and Germany. In Germany everything is regulated. The system of education is perfectly orgimised and is truly admirable. The enthusiasm of scientists in their researches is astonishing, and the country is generally admitted to be the source of learning, but the methods of instruction and lectures at schools seemed to be rather inclined to the principle of eranning. In 'Great Britain the educational methods and accommodation are inferior to those in Germany, but there are many historical educational centres, such as Eton College and Cambridge Uni- the site of the Commonwealth capital. versity, where irreproachable conduct and high ideals prevail. In Great Britaiu more importance seems to be placed on the training of character than on the investigation of profound scientific principles as pursued in Germany, I admired the educational policy of Great Britain, no less than he perfect accommodation for education in Germany." Passing from the general to the particular, Dr. Mano is of opinion that Germany excels over other countries in the accommodation for supplementary education. In that country, he says, children of all classes. rich and poor, can have access to the Universities, and all branches of business education are highly advanced. The other subjects of instruction are numerous and diverse in scope. In Great Britain, a freer country, the Government in no way interferes with business education, leaving everything to the people. In commercial education the business associations peculiar to that country are working as the leading spirits in commercial education, so that education is making no less progress in England than in Germany. Turning to America, Dr. MANG found that more importance is there attached to practical experiments in education. One day he visited the Hongkong College by H. E. the Massachusetts Institution, in Boston, There a professor was having 8 p.m.,—President's dinner to Hongkong Reserves at Hongkong Hotel. 8.30 p.m.—Police Smoking Concert. lecture copied by a typist. The Japanese educationist has undoubtedly pointed out the salien differences in the three educationa systems he has examined, and conclusion the general reader, derives from his observations is that each country has developed the system education best suited to its needs an temperamental aptitudes.

DECEMBER WEATHER.

During the month of December the total rainfall was considerably less than one inch -0.790 to be correct. This compares with a mean for 25 years of 1.18. There were only eight days on which min fell. was a bright, sunshiny month, for there were only three days on which no sunshin was recorded, while the total of sunshine matters and stayed in England during in hours was 168.2, compared with a 25 the run of the Anglo-Japanese Ex- years' mean of 179.2.

The highest point touched by the barometer was 77.1, on the 1st day of the month; while the lowest temperature was 45.8 two days before Christmad. The temperature averages for the month were;-Maximum, 65.1; mean, 50.7; minimum, 54.9. These figures contrast with 67.8, 62.7 and 58.6 for the 25 years average. The average humidity was 60, which compared with a like mean for 25 years, while the wind, whose average velocity was 0.1. LUGARD wishes the Colony to attain the month, blew mainly in a N. During the debate on the Bill for the regulation of the drink traffic, before the French Senate, M. Briand, the Premier, said that the situation was terrible and the very life of the nation was at stake; the Government was determined to combat alcoholism. The Bill provides that for places of 600 inhabitants or less three drink shops at most shall be permitted, and one more for each additional 200 inhabitants.

Mr T. P. O'Connor, writing in Rey nold's Newspaper, rejoices at the indications of a determined, resolute and prompt spirit on the part of the Ministers. He says that the Veto"Bill, will be brought up on the first night of the Session and pursued to the bitter end without delay. Nothing, he adds, but a big stick will teach the Lords, whose hot heads are growing still hotter.

During the month of December the average amounts of bank notes in circulation and of specie in reserve in the Colony were: -Chartered Bank-notes, $5,297,799; specie, $3,500,000. The L. and C. Express says :- "The Annual Report on Hongkong for the year 1909 is a somewhat belated document. It was despatched to the Colonial Secretary in July, and might, we should have thought, have been issued in London before Novem. ber." The journal we are quoting regards the finances of the Colony as, generally speaking, not unsatisfactory, and concludes :- "Above all, the colony is to be congratulated upon its comparative immunity from plague, the number of deaths being 108 compared with 986 in 1908. This happy result is doubtless largely due to the preventive measures undertaken by the sanitary authorities." The Indian Preventive Service effected another big cocaine seizure on the Austrian-Lloyd's steamer Koerber on December 17th, when 48 lbs. of cocaine were captured, valued at between-R20,000 and R25,000. Six of the crew were arrested, but the Captain voluntarily stated that he, was solely responsible for the importation wealthy men take great interest in of the drug. He was placed before the Third Presidency Magistrate and sentenced to two months' rigorous' imprisonment and a fine of R500, or in default to undergo'a further term of one month's imprisonment. The Magistrate complimented the Preven tive Service on detecting the offence. It is the largest seizure-of cocnine on record in

> In a final review of the British elections the Unionist papers maintain that the victory is too indecisive and the majority too heterogeneous to enable any extreme course or violent methods to be successfully pursued. They anticipate that the Government will be compelled to seek a compromise with the Opposition; and add that any genuine attempt at accommodation will be fairly met. The Liberal journals insist that the constituencies have given such proof of a most sustained and deliberate conviction that a mandate to carry the Veto Bill is undeniable. There is no constitutional excuse for resisting the passage. The Liberal papers intimate that, owing to the changed conditions since Mr Gladstone's bill, the new Home Rule measure will take months to draft and will not be

The Colony heaved a sigh of relief when it was known that John Grant had been sentenced to a long term of imprisonment. The unblushing impudence which sustainand the man to the very end was one of the most remarkable features of the whole of the magisterial examinations and criminal trials which he has passed through during the last few months.

Training for the races, has seriously begun and already there is a fair muster at the rails on Wednesdays and Saturdays to watch the performances of the various "gees." It is early days, however, to talk about probable winners ; at present the poures engaged can best be described as full of promise.

The news from London this week has been particularly thrilling. Reuter did not consider it worth while to telegraph the beginning of the dreadful Hounsditch story beyond Bonday, but by the time the ghastly sequel was reached Indian and Japanese papers had arrived to supply the missing links in the parrative. It makes one's admiration for the cool courage of the London policenan, armed only with truncheon, rise to the highest pitch when one reads of the intrepid way in which they met the fusillade of the burglars. One of the murdered constables was found afterwards to have received eight wounds, while the stock of dynamite discovered in the house underneath which the burglers had driven a tunnel to reach the jeweller's shop which was the object of their nefarious the East End.

Surely the times are ripe for England to aleal resolutely and firmly with the question of the undesirable alien. At present every nation in the world can dump its criminal undesirables in London and nothing is said. . King George as usual showed how closely he is in touch with his people by at once telegraphing to the widows and dependents of the victims of the Hounsditch tragedy, -while awarding medals to survivors and gratuities in necessitous cases. ANOTHER DISASTEROUS FIRE. Fourth in One Week,

After a long immunity from fires, with a --few exceptions at intervals, the Hongkong Fire Brigade was called out for the fourth time within one week in the carly hours of this morning to battle with an outbreak which occurred in a kitchen of a flat at No 6, Des Vœux Road Central. The fire was first noticed at 2. 20 a.m., the policemen on duty in that vicinity giving the alarm, and the firemen with their usual promptitude turned out although those who were not on duty were asleep at the time of the alarm. On arrival dense smoke made it extremely difficult to locate the exact position of fire. However, the firemen gallantly struggled against the flames coming from the roof of the burning building. In addition to the ordinary difficulties attending a conflagration the Gremen had to contend with numerous others and this made their work extremely arduous. Owing to the multitude of telephone vires in neighbourhood, considerable trouble was experienced in getting the escape into proper position so as to rescue the immates who' were asleep when the outbreak occurred. At length they succeeded in doing, so and many of the occupants clad only in their night attire were taken out safely by this means. Others were able to to Manila, that the 23rd. Docember his effect an escape by the stairs. They were immediately taken to the King Edward Hotel where every comfort and convenience was afforded them by the management. The difficulties were increased by the washers of two hydrants in the main street becoming dislodged. This affected the hydrant hall and naturally had an adverse effect on the supply of water. Then, again, the firemen got so near the fire that one of the hoses was burned and rendered useless. The fire, originating as it did in the kitchen chimney at the back of the house and on the top floor, was one of the most difficult which the firemen have had to contend with for years, nevertheless they did they

THE OVERDUE LAUNCH.

Under Sail but Assistance Refused

In our issue of Tuesday last we made reference to the anxiety which was being felt regarding a steam lauveh which left Hongkong on December 19th for Manila in charge of Capt. Gillan and also laving on board a European engineer and a Chinese crew. In ordinary circumstances the launch should have arrived at her destination in a few days, but even at the time of writing news has not been received of her arrival. However, some further news has been heard of her, for the master of the Norwegian steamer Brand reports that on January 1st., when about 100 miles north of Manile and 10 miles off the land, he met a launch called "Harbor No. 1," under jury sail, in charge of a European, who reported that he was bound from Hongkong boiler broke down and he could not steam, and that the hull of the craft was strained and leaking. He refused assistance but took provisions and water. On this information being received in the Colony a telegram was despatched to Colonel McCoy. Collector of Customs, Manilo, who no doubt would render whatever assistance he considered necessary. The launch was built by Mesers Macdonald and Company to the order of the Customs Bureau at Manila. She is 62 feet long, 12 feet beam, of about 40 tons net register, and her indicated horse power is A substantial craft, in every way fitted to undertake the run down sho The premises were occupied by Mr Listo | was expected to arrive within four or heavy weather when about halfway down. struck the little eraft it, would drive her to be able to find shelter. but the strunge feature of the whole thing is that it was sin days ago when she was seen ten miles of the const, and that no news of her arrival has yet been received in the Colony. Naturally, the greatest anxiety stil

A FOLLOWER OF INFLUENZA. N attack of influenza is often followed by a persistent cough, which to many proves a great annoyands. Chamberlain Cough Reynedy has been extensively used and with good success for the relief and oure of this cough. Many cases have been cured after other well known remedies had falled.
